PROMPTS

1. Describe holding your finished book in your hands.
2. Add an element of the curious, illogical, uncanny, absurd or surreal, to make your vignette more memorable.
3. Give your character something that you want yourself.
4. Research & imagine:
   a. A person you want to meet.
   b. A place you want to visit.
   c. An object you want to own.
   d. An experience you want to have.
5. Use all five (or six or seven) senses.
6. How would your favourite author preface a collection of your best works?
7. Make your vision bigger and brighter.
8. Consider the ordinariness, normalcy, certainty and security of your vision.
9. Your dream desk or bookshelf.
10. Write a vision about the moment you recognise that a previous vision has already come to pass.
11. Enjoy the fruits of your imagination.
12. Describe a meeting with your ideal editor or reader.
13. How does your experience differ from the vision?
14. Use your vision to intensify your desire for what you describe.
15. Write a vignette that's a bridge to the future.
16. Reveal a secret desire to yourself.
17. How does it feel to write fast and in full flow?
18. Make some real magic.
