

30 Day Flash Fiction Challenge

---

DAY 1: An impulse buy leading to intergalactic warfare.

DAY 2: "Smoke hung so thick in the library's rafters that she could read words in it."

DAY 3: The language of flowers, pyjamas, a secret passageway.

DAY 4: "His wife was having tea with the King and he didn't even know about it."

DAY 5: The story of how your parents met, transposed to the Victorian era.

DAY 6: A balloon, a ball, balustrades.

DAY 7: A language class for aliens.

DAY 8: "She liked to fit people into the world like puzzle pieces."

DAY 9: Someone goes to extreme lengths to return something he/she borrowed.

DAY 10: An explorer with MPD, a widow, a house in the woods.

DAY 11: "Winter was the only season we could be together."

DAY 12: A story entitled "The Fate of the Telegraph Operator."

DAY 13: Someone's life takes on new meaning after they discover an unusual tree.

DAY 14: A sailor returning home finds his wife knows every detail of his life while he was away.

DAY 15: A plague, a piece of chalk, viridian.

DAY 16: "There were 48 000 gods in their mythology and not one..."

DAY 17: A substance which generates ideas, a spy, 1 minute.

DAY 18: "The floor tasted like..."

DAY 19: A light-tent, an actress, 2 worlds.

DAY 20: A story about someone who is obsessed with marmalade.

DAY 21: Steampunk sleeping beauty.

DAY 22: An unfinished work of art, a mycologist, a sense of foreboding.

DAY 23: "Please shut the..."

DAY 24: Mind controlling wallpaper creates happy ending.

DAY 25: Lancelot, flannel, aeronautics.

DAY 26: Invent a creation myth involving string and feathers.

DAY 27: Story sandwich.

DAY 28: "The colour of her blood was the least of my worries."

DAY 29: A single lily, a cliff, 3 hours.

DAY 30: Write a story that begins and ends with a bicycle.