Ticking Clock

What does the character need to achieve?

________________________
________________________
________________________

What is an unreasonably short timeframe in which to achieve it?

________________________
________________________
________________________

Consequences of failure:

________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________

What does the character need to do to stop the clock?

________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________

A deadline to suit your timeframe:

__ years __ months __ days __ hours __ minutes __ seconds

Consequences of failure:

________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________

Proof of success:

________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________

What are the obstacles? What goes wrong?

________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________

How long will each obstacle take to overcome?

________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________

How does fear of the deadline affect the character?

________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________

How does the suspense escalate as the deadline draws near?

________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________

Does the deadline trigger another ticking clock?

________________________
________________________
________________________
________________________

© E.A. DEVERELL - http://eadeverell.com